Originator Of 'Godspell' Plans 'Inferno' Musical

John-Michael Tebelak, the 24-year-old creator and original director of Godspell, with its 16 stage companies playing around the world and a film about to be released, is working on a musical version of Dante's Inferno which he insists will not be a drastic departure from his work with the Gospel of St. Matthew on which his phenomenally popular rock musical is based.

"It's not exactly going from heaven to hell, which has been suggested by some," the young director asserted during a recent visit to San Francisco, where the American Conservatory Theater's presentation of Godspell is in its ninth month at the Marines' Memorial Theater.

"As a matter of fact," said Tebelak, "there are certain similarities between the two projects. I'm trying to find modern equivalents for Dante's characters and imagery in much the same way they were discovered in the book of Matthew and evolved in our original improvisational rehearsals for Godspell. There are always certain universalities in any great writing, be it Shakespeare or the authors of the Scriptures or Dante."

As far as Godspell goes, the "modern equivalents" and "certain universalities" change somewhat from city to city as well as among the various ensemble casts who perform the joyous and energetic musical.

"Although the basic format has now become fairly set, the show is always performed around the individual personalities of the ten people who make up each cast and, more importantly, the locale in which it is playing," says Tebelak.

"One major thing I've learned from my experience with Godspell is the importance of letting the audience be the poet of the piece."

"I don't mean this in the strictest sense of course but, for example, the London production of Godspell runs 15 minutes longer than it does anywhere else. The London company of Hair ran 30 minutes longer and the British commented that it was very fast. I thought both Hair and Godspell went very slowly there!"

Tebelak, who periodically visits his numerous companies around the world, feels that because of the extent of which each individual audience is unique—the San Francisco company could not play the show as it does here in Chicago and that the Chicago show could not be transplanted in the Bay area without extensive changes.

"It's all in the feeling of the city and probably one reason for the show's remarkable success is that we know this and make each presentation meaningful to the local audience," he says.

Another reason for the enduring popularity of Godspell undoubtedly is the universality of its theme.

Although Tebelak started out to compile the biblical material into a format of protest against the commercialization of religion, the end result was an expression of faith and belief relevant to our troubled times.

Before I answer a question that was asked me in regards to my column last week, let me ask you a question: How do you like our new AUTOMOTIVE SECTION in the paper? The automobile dealers are finally getting themselves together. And we are here to help. It took many hours of work on both sides to produce this, so let's make it pay off. All you have to do when you go in to test drive one of the cars listed in this paper is to inform the dealer that you read it in our paper. Just as simple as that. If you scratch my back I shall do everything in my power to scratch yours. Fair enough?

If ever there is something in this column that you want elaborated on, please do not hesitate to request it. It is easy for someone (especially me) to take people for granted. So unless I hear from you I just may rattle on and on about a subject and never answer your question. The person who asked the question wanted to make clear that she "dug" what I was saying, except she wanted me to give my version or conception of the word "Overself."

I have no version of the work, I only know the definition as it was understood by me. The word "Overself" comes from a very old Tibetan word which is interpreted loosely as "the Man in Charge Above." Think of yourself down here as a puppet dangling on the end of a long string (the Silve Cord), trying to carry out the wishes of the Man in Charge Above. The Overself is the soul, the super-ego, the super-being, the overseer, the one who manages us from some distant plane of existence. In other words: THE Overself is the real "I."

There were several discussions directed to me in regard to my column last week. Seems as if I "hit" many people and they are trying to find out "where I'm at." They are seeing me from the

Dollar Crisis Explained

By Harold L. Perry
and B.J. Eakin,
Special Correspondents

There is a dollar crisis in Europe.

What does that mean in English? Who cares? What does it mean to my pay check?

The first statement was from recent newspaper headlines and the television news. The questions are from the average person who heard the statement. In the last weeks we have seen news reports about the "Council of Ten" meeting in Europe. Most of the reporters only report what is happening, they don't know why it happened, what it means to them or how it will affect their lives in the future.

This brief article cannot explain everything about international monetary dealings but it can shed a little light on what this means to the reader.

First, a dollar crisis is caused when persons who own dollars sell them for something of greater value. This crisis is caused not by just one person or one company selling its dollars, but by great numbers of persons, companies and banks selling vast amounts of dollars all in a very short period of time. In the last few weeks $15 billion or more in United States currency has changed hands in Europe.

In Retrospect

To find the way this came about, we must look at Europe at the end of World War II. At that time most of the countries in Europe were on their knees in a financial sense. They had no money, they had no factories, no export nor any way to make money.

The United States through the Marshall Plan decided to loan them money. The dollars that went to Europe became known as Eurodollars. They were used by the European countries to rebuild their factories and their countries and their ability to make money.

A country makes money the same way a small store owner makes money—by buying and selling goods. He must sell at a higher price than he buys or he will soon have a very low bank account or an overdrawn bank account. This is the condition of the United States at this time. Uncle Sam has almost no gold in the bank—Fort Knox—and has billions of dollars in IOUs out that he cannot pay.

To the citizens of this country a dollar bill is something you can spend but to a foreign person who holds that same dollar it is just an IOU against the United States. In this article we will use the word "IOU" to indicate United States dollars held by foreign persons or companies.

As a result of the condition of the United States, the people who own these IOUs are getting more and more nervous as Uncle Sam continues to spend considerably more than his sales and they are selling these IOUs—which we call dollars—to any one who will take these pieces of paper.

Chain of Events

The chain of events on this dollar crisis started with the Marshall Plan and we shall see that this is much like a small store in your neighborhood. The United States government, at the end of World War II, had a vault full of gold. The government gave European nations—France, Germany, Austria, England, Belgium, Holland and others—IOU certificates against this hard gold in the vault and promised to pay to anyone who had one of these IOU certificates gold when the IOU was delivered to them.

So the United States gave out billions of dollars—IOUs—over the years and as Europe rebuilt their factories and economies the United States purchased more products from them. The United States kept giving IOU certificates and France, Germany and other countries kept accepting them because they knew the United States would give them gold for the IOUs any time they asked for it. However, the United States kept spending more dollars than it had coming in.

All of us know that we cannot keep spending more than we are making for a long period of time without having some problems. The United States kept paying out more gold than was coming in until they had such a small supply of gold that they decided to stop paying out any more gold against the IOU certificates outstanding. (This was announced by President Richard Nixon in the fall of 1971). The people who held the IOUs at that time were in trouble.

Reasons Why

There were billions of dollars worth of IOUs out at the time that we stopped honoring our promise to pay out hard money for these pieces of paper. The people who then owned the IOUs had to decide how to get rid of these pieces of paper. They tried to trade them off for something of value—machinery, equipment or other security that was of more value.

Senior Volunteer Entertains With Harmonica, Jew's Harp

White Plains, N.Y.--
"Hop Light Miss Bell!"

Dan Smith, blind folksinger, musician and funmaster, giggled with the children as he called out the familiar game. And, by memory and the sounds of running feet and excited voices, he "watched" the third and fourth-graders form their circle for the Ring Play.

A volunteer with the White Plains Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Smith is a regular Tuesday and Friday visitor to Highview Elementary School where he teaches the games of his own Alabama childhood and the wonders of the harmonica and Jew's harp.

Blinded a few years ago in an industrial accident, Smith, 62, joined RSVP last October. All his life, he said, he has loved children and he welcomed the chance RSVP gave him to work with them regularly in the school system.

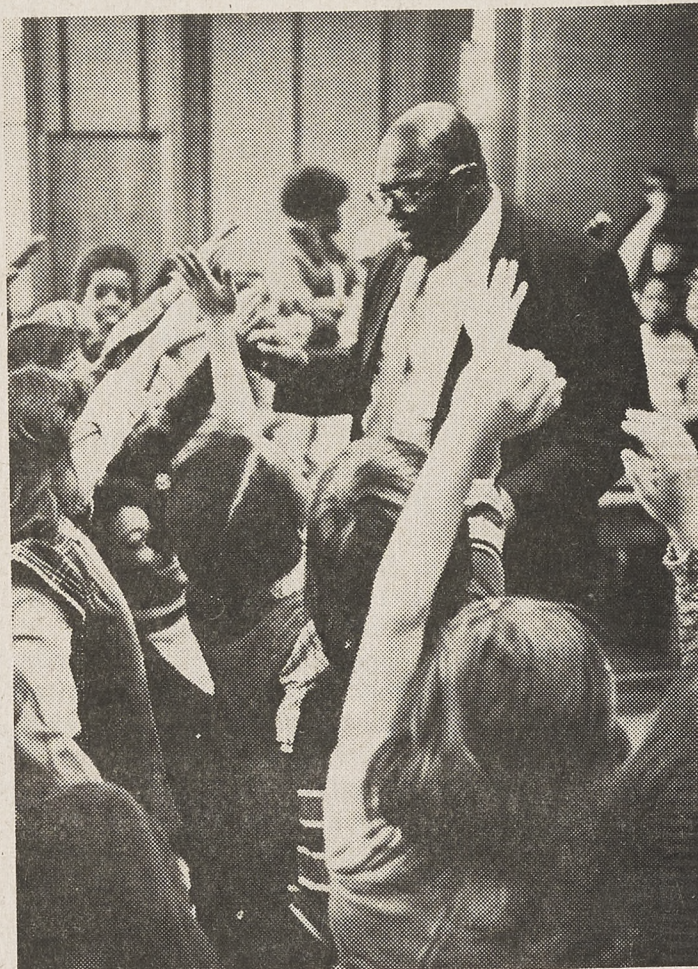

RSVP, funded by ACTION, the federal citizens service corps, is a national program to develop significant volunteer service in local communities for retired people age 60 and over.

A professional musician who has recorded several albums on the Biograph label and performed country-wide for the Lighthouse for the Blind, songs:

"Life is good/Life is sweet./No matter what/Your case may be."

The verse sums up the message he is trying to impart to the youngsters.

"I want them to see that even though I am blind, I am not at all discouraged with life. I want them to learn that regardless of circumstances, they've got to keep on what they're doing, and do it well."

With thoughtful care and efficiency, Smith blends his philosophy with fun and music.

About to begin a music lesson, he holds a Jew's harp high and asks, "What is this?"

Someone answers, "A juice harp!"

"Well, now," Smith ponders, "Where does the juice come out?"

The children whoop with laughter, and the lesson sticks.

Smith generally meets with a group of two or three classes together. Sometimes the ages range from preschool through fourth grade. Yet, his technique of telling tales, riddles, songs and games works with all ages.

Smith is one of 28 White Plains RSVP volunteers serving in seven schools in the Greenburgh area. Their talents vary from clerical to musical. Many senior volunteers tutor students, form hobby clubs, assist teachers in the classroom and do other needed tasks.

RSVP Project Director Mrs. Jane Greenawalt reports that the senior volunteers have proved so helpful and popular that school principals are helping to recruit new people.

Many installations across the country have expanded their educational programs and in some states, Junior Colleges are assisting in military educational opportunities. The Defense Department designated Miami-Dade Junior College as a "Servicemen's Opportunity College." The designation is part of a national program sponsored jointly by the Defense Department and the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges. Miami-Dade is one of several colleges in the country to win the designation which was awarded in recognition of the college's commitment to provide educational programs for active-duty servicemen. Miami-Dade enrolled more than 300 servicemen for fall term classes last semester. The college offers about 20 accredited courses during each of its eight-week terms for servicemen and their dependents.

Asian Awareness Week Set Statement By Jean L. Thomas Candidate For Trustee Of MPC

Students from Monterey and Seaside high schools and Monterey Peninsula College have announced that April 30 through May 5 will be Asian Awareness Week.

A full week of cultural, social and informational activities is being lined up. Marty Omoto, a Monterey High School graduate now attending MPC, is coordinating plans for the week. He said the week is being organized "to help people become more aware of the cultural, historical and political aspects of Asians in this country, but particularly in this community."

Property Tax

Exemption

Deadline Near

The period for filing of homeowner's and veteran's property tax exemption is nearing an end and closes on April 16, according to Monterey County Assessor, Donald P. Stewart.

The homeowner's exemption has been increased in value this year from $750 to $1750 and extends to properties used as the principal place of residence of the owner. In addition to single family residences, the exemption may apply to mobile-home sites upon which a mobile-home is located as the owner's principal place of residence. This year the law provides that owner-occupied apartments are also eligible.

Stewart urges that anyone who has not yet filed his claim for either of these exemptions should contact the Assessor's Office at the courthouse at once.

He said students from the three schools are seeking help from anyone in the community, Asian or non-Asian, who would like to participate.

Planned so far are exhibits of Asian arts and crafts, dancing and entertainment. An Asian Dinner and Entertainment Night is scheduled at Monterey High on May 4, and an "entertainment day" will be held in the Custom House Plaza beginning at noon on May 5. Speakers from various Asian organizations will be scheduled to talk at different events throughout the week. The students also hope to publish a magazine containing writings by and about Asians on the Monterey Peninsula.

Omoto asked that anyone interested in helping out with the project by donating food, selling tickets to events, producing posters, lending art objects, paintings or other display materials or by doing other jobs contact him at 372-0430.

Chess Exhibit Scheduled

A chess exhibition by Robert Burger, chess master and international problem judge, is being sponsored by Monterey Peninsula College at the Monterey Chess Center at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 14.

The exhibition includes a simultaneous chess match between Burger and 30 challengers. At 8 p.m. the same day, Burger will lecture in MPC's LF-103 on last summer's Fischer-Spassky match for which Burger conducted a televised analysis.

Jean L. Thomas, candidate for trustee of M.P.C. says: The doors of Monterey Peninsula College are open to people of almost every age group and background. A major goal is to help each student move from his present level of learning and knowledge as far as his ability and desire allow. As a candidate for a vacant position on the Board of Governors, I support this goal. I am impressed that students, after going from M.P.C. to four year colleges and universities, rank in the top 15 percent of their classes. I am impressed that there are 51 career programs available through cooperation between the 4 community colleges in our area, Cabrillo, Hartnell, Gavilan and Monterey Peninsula Colleges. I am impressed that there are 12 student services available for students with financial or educational needs. I am impressed that the evening enrollment is over 6000 students. I am also impressed that the administrative offices of the college president and 6 deans and the business manager have no doors or high walls, an outward and visible sign of their desire to be in easy communication with students, faculty and members of the community. If elected, I will strive to continue the good work which is under way. Jean L. Thomas outside. It is quite necessary that the reader should change the attitude in which he has been accustomed to regard himself, and that he should clearly distinguish between the man and the bodies in which the man dwells.

We cannot continue to identify ourselves with the outer garments that we wear. Or the color of our skin. Or the texture of our hair. These are merely casings that we put on for a time and again cast off, to put on fresh ones when we are again in need of one.

We are not permanently dependent on them. Their value is only in proportion to their need, or the way they are utilized. The blunder of identifying the consciousness, which is our Self, with the vehicles in which that consciousness is functioning could be to your disadvantage. We must train ourself to regard our Self as the owner of the vehicle. In time this will by experience become for us a fact. We will learn to step out of our vehicle and know that we exist in a far fuller consciousness outside it than within it.

We will learn the proportional difference between the changing and the permanent. We will feel the difference between the drowning man in the sea and the sea and the man whose foot is firmly planted on a rock under the water.

When I speak of man I mean the living, conscious, thinking Self, the individual. When I speak of bodies I mean the various casings in which this Self is enclosed, enabling the Self to function in this universe. A man might use an automobile on land, a ship on the water, or an airplane in the air. This enables him to travel from one place to another, and still remain himself no matter what body he is functioning.

His automobile, ship, or airplane vary in materials and arrangement according to the element each is destined to move. Each body varies likewise. One is grosser than another, one shorter-lived than another, one has fewer capacities than another. They have one thing in common: to the man they are transient, his instruments, his servants, wearing out and renewed according to their nature.

One day we shall discuss servant of the consciousness - man, or the physical body. Until then we shall shelve the entire subject.

Well, the meat boycott has ended (temporarily) and people are protein-ing again. One health "expert" was telling the people that not eating meat was extremely unhealthy. This health expert did not try to defy the picket line set up around one of the popular stores in this town. That was extremely unhealthy. So rather than becoming a recipient of a sign board, they slowly drifted home, called thier favorite market and had the meat delivered. One market hired two extra drivers and was still delivering fresh meat at 9 p.m. last Firday night. I could make ten pages of comment right here and now, but it would do no good. People are going to do what they want to do, as long as someone paves the road for them.

What I would like to see in this community of ours is 100 percent cooperation in every endeavor attempted. If your "brother" is doing something, or merely trying to do something to better your living conditions or your social status, or your financial situation, don't throw nails in his path. Help him help you. At least give him a fair chance to prove his point. We all have to live here together. I did not pick you to live in my community, nor did you pick me to live in yours. But since we are stuck with each other, let's make it the best community there is. I shall do my part. May I count on you?

It would be impossible for me to end without a silent prayer for my mother who is preparing for an operation, and Mrs. Barragan's mother who is confined in bed. Will you join me? Thank you.

Joe Dolan

Your Council, on a motion by Mr. Ross and seconded by Mrs. Barton, unanimously approved a "Dollars for Youth Drive" to be sponsored by the City of Seaside! This ambitious fund raising drive has as its sole purpose, the goal of raising funds to provide adequate recreation facilities for the Youth of Seaside.

Our goal is to raise $100,000 in two months commencing with a kick-off date of April 23, 1973. All funds generated through the drive will be used as follows:

1. Construction of a building at David Cutino Park to provide "boys" and "girls" restroom facilities;
2. Remodel and expand the existing Seaside Youth Center on Wheeler Street;
3. Plus assist our underprivileged youth to pay for camperships at Camp Cahoon when this project is developed.

The implementation of our Dollars for Youth Program envisions the City of Seaside being divided into four geographical areas. The dividing boundaries will be Noche Buena running north and south, and Broadway going east and west.

Community Organization: Four committees will be organized which will be responsible for the fund raising in their areas. Each committee will be composed of:

- One Councilman
- Frive Community people (3 appointed by the Councilman, and 2 appointed by the Mayor)

One youth (appointed by Councilman)

Concepts:

1. Each group to designate a leader;
2. Fund raising drive to last sixty days;
3. P.O. Box established under name of City of Seaside;
4. City to have total fiscal responsibility;
5. Will be a youth door to door dollar drive;
6. One day established to contact businesses;
7. Park & Recreation Commission as advisory to Committees.

Time Table:

- April 23 - Kick Off date;
- June 23 - Final Day of Drive.

We are also in receipt of a proposal from a PTA President that the City obtain a new car, a color T.V., and ten ten-speed bikes to be offered as PRIZES for $1 donations. Further, it was suggested that we print 100,000 tickets to be used as receipts for the $1 donation with the drawing for the prizes to be made on July 1, 1973 which is the date of our Independence Day Parade this year!

We will keep you fully informed.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

"Albert, I think you're in trouble again. There's a letter for you from the Chief of Police."

"Read it to me, honey. I broke my glasses last night trying to get out of that warehouse window ahead of the night watchman."

"It says, Dear Householder, We know you will want to help us to deter crime by conforming to newly proposed legislation that will make it illegal to sell or distribute handguns that would melt at a temperature of less than 800 degrees."

"It never gets that hot here. What else does it say?"

"It says, This legislation is aimed at reducing the number of cheap "Saturday Night Specials" that most criminals use."

"Well, I've got news for the Chief of Police. Both of my Police Specials and my sawed-off automatic shotgun were stolen from the most expensive gun shop in town, and they had better be top quality or I'll report the place to the Better Business Bureau."

"Don't get upset, dear. One thing I don't understand, though. Why are they just concerned about the cheap guns. Are they more deadly than the good ones?"

"No, honey, getting killed by one of them is the same as getting killed by another one. It's just that if they try to pass a law against all handguns, then they run into opposition from the gun clubs, and they might as well as forget the whole thing. This way they might even get the gun clubs to lobby in favor of the legislation."

"Do you think it will pass, then?"

"Not a chance. It would infringe on Constitutional rights, and even us criminals don't want anything like that to happen. Don't wait up for me, honey. We're going to blow the safe at the First National tonight, and "Dirty Harry" is playing at the movie next door to it, so we've got to play it real cool."

Letters to the Editor

I am deeply concerned about the future o Humanity and our environment. Crime is an everyday thing. There is too much greed, violence, wars and drugs.

Continuation of this can be the destruction of not only us, but of our yet unborn children. We have to think of them. If not, generation after generation will follow the course of terrorism and apathy. It's time to change this pattern. Right Now! To survive, America the beautiful and the world needs to unite towards a goal of brotherhood to man, regardless of race, religion, politics or governments. How can we achieve this? I'm not sure. Perhaps an educational program in "Concern for Humanity" can turn us back to normal. The power of God is in us if we will just meditate and act.

This venture to reach the youth of our country may someday bring - Cause for a celebration where we can once again sing, "God Bless America" with all sincerity. I pray so. And may "God help us all," in all places of worship and wherever we go.

We need to give our hearts to God and a helping hand to man.

Elizabeth Pratt
Pacific Grove,

Editor:

Mayor Joe Dolan certainly brought up an interesting point, and I must agree with him that amnesty should not be accorded those who fled to avoid duty to their country. However, the problem is a bit more complicated than just punishing individuals for wrongdoing.

The Mayor's statement that "Vietnam was anything but a popular war" was something of an understatement. Vietnam, as an American was, was not only unpopular, it was also illegal, hypocritical, immoral, senseless, unnecessary and extremely un-American in that our participation in it not only did nothing toward holding back communism; it was the greatest thing that ever happened for the general communist hope of someday controlling the world.

While a small handful of intelligent concerned Americans became branded as "pinks," etcetera, for opposing American involvement, we still insisted on flailing at windmills 10,000 miles away, going into debt to the tune of several hundred billion dollars, destroying our economy with inflation and the imminent threat of recession, destroying our image as the nation that ordinarily stood up for the little guy in opposition to military dictatorships, and I have not mentioned the American lives lost or the damage to lives and property in Asia.

That deliberate destruction of our own country was supposed to be patriotic? Isn't it about time we looked clearly at the real issues, instead of trying to salve our consciences, if any, by wrapping the American flag around our heads to blur our vision?

The matter of amnesty is a very minor issue. The major issue is whether we can continue as a nation if we are so shallow in our thinking and our patriotism that we can be willingly led to our own destruction by the magic formula of waving the flag and playing the Star Spangled Banner and putting the communist label on whatever it is we are supposed to attack. I don't think we can survive with such thinking. We may already have signed our abdication papers. No amount of flag waving is going to get us back into the export business, for example, which we lost with our war-induced inflation.

Khrushchev probably was right about the Russians someday burying us. Our decline and fall cycle is apparently about a half phase ahead of theirs, which would normally make them survive 50 or 100 years longer, even without a war. But I thoroughly resent those of us who use patriotism as a means of speeding up our downfall in favor of the Russians, or the Chinese or the Albanians. And if amnesty is really important, maybe we should stop granting amnesty to the people who got us into the Vietnam war and intimidated us into continuing it for their own personal interests or paranoias.

OFFICER JULIAN MARTIN:

Soon after Julian Martin was born in Phoenix, Arizona, his family moved to Sacramento, California, where he received his early education through the Sacramento schools. After graduation from high school, Julian married his wife, Alice. It was not long after his marriage when he received greetings from Uncle Sam. While serving in the military service, Julian toured Vietnam with the U.S. forces. After returning from Vietnam he was assigned to Fort Ord, where he received his discharge. Julian and his wife, Alice, liked the Monterey Peninsula, so well they stayed and Julian went back to school at Monterey Peninsula College. After graduating from MPC he worked as a guard at Soledad Prison.

Since joining the Seaside Police Department in 1969, Julian has graduated from The Central Coast Counties Police Academy located at Gavilan College in Gilroy. Upon completion of the Police Academy he received his Basic Certificate from the State of California Department of Justice, The Commission on Peace Officers Standards and Training. Officer Martin was selected as officer of the Month for November and December 1971 by the Monterey Peace Officers Association. He also received the honor of being selected as Officer of the Year for 1971. This award was given by the American Legion Post 591 in Seaside. Officer Martin has worked in patrol since joining the police department and presently has been assigned to the Crime Prevention Unit, Burglary Detail. During the four years that Officer Martin has been with the police department, he has attended numerous classes, and special schools to further his education in the field of law enforcement, one of which inabled him to become one of three officers to be classified as an expert in the classification of fingerprints.

Outside the job, Julian enjoys wood carving, weight lifting, and motoring around the countryside on his motorcycle.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q My wife and I had over $18,000 in income last year. Does this mean that we cannot take advantage of the increased deduction for child care?

A) No. You may still have a partial deduction. Your deductible child care expenses must be reduced by one-half of the amount by which your adjusted gross income exceeds $18,000 for one year. This means that you may have up to $27,600 in income before your child care deduction is phased out. For more information, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Dependent Care." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q I paid someone to prepare my return for 1972. Can I deduct his fee on my 1972 return?

A) No. Since most taxpayers are on the cash basis, practically all deductible expenses, including tax preparer fees, may be deducted only in the year they are paid. Thus, if you itemize deductions, you may deduct on your 1973 return the amount paid in 1973 to have your 1972 return prepared.

Q I had two jobs last year, and more than the maximum amount of social security tax was withheld from my pay. Can I claim the excess?

A) Yes. If you worked for two or more employers during 1972 and more than $9,000 of your wages were subject to social security tax, you are entitled to claim the excess social security tax as a credit against your income tax. See your tax form instructions for details.

However, if you worked for only one employer during 1972, and more than $468 in social security tax was withheld, you may not claim the excess as an income tax credit. Your employer should adjust this over-collection with you.

Q How can I tell if a contribution to a particular organization is tax deductible?

A) If you itemize deductions, you may deduct contributions to organizations operated for religious, charitable or educational purposes. Some examples are churches, community chests, nonprofit schools, hospitals, etc. The organization itself should be able to tell you whether contributions made to it are deductible or you may call the IRS.

Q Where can I get information on tax law changes affecting my 1972 return?

A) Internal Revenue Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax, 1973 edition," describes all the tax law changes affecting your 1972 return. It may be purchased for 75 cents at IRS district offices, Government Printing Office book stores, and many post offices.

Q I heard that there are five tests that must be met for a taxpayer to claim a person as a dependent. What are they?

- 1) You must furnish over half of the dependent's total support during the calendar year;
- 2) Unless the person is less than 19 years of age at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year, you may not claim him as a dependent if his gross income is $750 or more;
- 3) The person must be a member of your household and live with you for the entire year or be closely related to you;
- 4) He must be a U.S. citizen or resident, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, American Samoa, Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the year; and
- 5) The person must not file a joint return unless one is not due but was filed merely to obtain a refund.

Permanent Tire Gauges Available

New Safety Check Tire Gauges install permanently on the valve stems of all sizes of automotive tires. Tire pressure can be read quickly and accurately to within one pound by pressing the permanently installed gauge unit down on the valve stem to activate the pop-up indicator. When gauge is released the indicator returns to its original position.

Tires can be inflated or deflated directly through the permanently attached gauge which also functions as a valve stem extension.

Each gauge is precision molded or rugged silicon rubber complete with dust cap. To install, simply screw gauges on to tire valve stems.

Correct tire pressure is important to highway safety as well as long tire life, and Safety Check Tire Gauges are especially useful on pressure-critical low profile tires.

Set of four shipped postpaid at $2.98. Satisfaction guaranteed from de Leon Enterprises, P.O. Box 263, Traverse City, Michigan 49684.

240-Z's Are Recalled By Datsun

To correct what may potentially be a defect in 1973 240-Z sports cars, Nissan Motor Corp. in U.S.A., the U.S. distributor of Datsun, is recalling 3,291 vehicles in owners' hands.

Some 1973 240-Z owners have experienced difficulty in starting when the engines are hot and also some stalling. Owners have been notified by certified mail to return their cars to Datsun dealers to have the carburetors and related parts modified or replaced.

Owners have been advised to make prior appointments with dealers to expedite the modification which requires about three to four hours.

Reminds Voters Of School Board Elections April 17

Mary Lou Stutzman

Tuesday, April 17, 1973 is elected day for trustees for local school boards on the Monterey Peninsula and for Monterey Peninsula College.

Mary Lou Stutzman, Chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District Board is urging citizens to vote in this election. "Election day falls during Easter vacation week and I'm concerned that some voters may be planning to be out of the district on vacations and may forget to vote with an absentee ballot. If voters are going to be away, they can find out how to vote with an absentee ballot by calling 372-8081 for information."

Mrs. Stutzman reminded voters that the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District Board Election has three vacancies to fill. Incumbents Ted Cunningham of Seaside and Mary Lou Stutzman of Monterey are both running for re-election. Three other people are candidates and these are Sam Karas of Monterey, Mrs. Kathleen Merrick of Monterey and Anthony Smith of Seaside.

There are two vacancies in the Monterey Peninsula College election and incumbent Sherman Smith of Seaside is running for re-election. The other candidates are Mrs. Jean Thomas and Mrs. Anne Nixon.

"One of the reasons that I'm running for re-election is to encourage better communication between the Board of Education and students, parents, community people and teachers. It is my hope that parents will vote in this election and will continue to communicate their ideas by attending Board meetings, serving on Committees, volunteer to work in their child's school, visit that school and tell Board members of their concerns. We encourage parents to attend Board meetings which are always open to the public and we have three different spots on the agenda where anyone can speak to the Board members and people are encouraged to do so. You don't have to be on the agenda to speak to the Board of your concerns about your child's education. I just hope that every registered voter will vote on April 17 or if they are going to be away will vote absentee."

Adobe Tour Student Art Winners

Winners of the 1973 Adobe Tour Student Art Project will be announced this Friday, April 13, at 3:30 p.m. in the House of Four Winds, 540 Calle Principal.

Mrs. Talma Wolfe, chairman of the student art project, said over 100 fourth graders from schools throughout the Peninsula have entered the competition, which revolves around the theme of early Monterey or California life pertinent to trade with the Orient from about 1780 to 1880.

Judging the children's art will be Irene Lagorio, well-known artist and art critic of Carmel, Alex Gonzales, artist and art instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, and Bert Conaghan, sculptor and former classroom and art teacher, of Monterey.

Winners of the first, second and third place awards, as well as four honorable mention winners, will receive books on Monterey and California history, certificates of appreciation and tickets to the 1973 Adobe Tour. Teachers of the top three winners will be given tour tickets.

Participants in the project, their families and their teachers are invited to the presentation event.

The project is sponsored by the Monterey History and Art Association.

Waldie To Speak In Carmel

Congressman Jerome R. Waldie (D-Antioch) will be the guest of the Monterey Peninsula Democratic Cooperative Society on Tuesday evening, April 17. The new group, formed since last November's election, will sponsor "An Evening with Congressman Jerome Waldie" to begin at 7 p.m. at the Sunset Cultural Center in Carmel. And old-fashioned California (Mexican-style) buffet supper will be served. Representative Waldie will speak briefly on his bill to protect the confidentiality of newsmen's sources and his recent efforts to increase post office efficiency. He will then take questions from the floor.

Congressman Waldie, a four-term veteran from Contra Costa County, formerly served in the State Assembly for eight years, where he was Majority Floor Leader. He is a member of the House Judiciary and Post Office and Civil Service Committees. Re-elected to Congress with 78 percent of the vote last year, Waldie was the first Democrat to state his intention to seek the governorship in 1974.

Michael Sonneberg and his wife, Gail, personally will help you with your funeral arrangements.

Leah Washington Is First Black Woman Graduate At Brooks

Brooks Institute, School of Photographic Arts & Sciences, will grant a Bachelor Professional Arts degree to its first Black woman graduate on April 20th -- Leah Ann Washington. In addition to the first for the 27-year-old Institute, Leah's graduation is somewhat of a cliffhanger -- due to the fact that she and her husband, Edward Washington, are expecting their first baby on just about that date.

Brooks Institute regularly grants the honorary degree of P.H.T. ("Putting Hubby Through") to the wives of graduating students. At this graduation, however, Leah's husband will receive a P.H.T. degree, along with 19 wives -- his having a slightly different translation: "Putting Honey Through."

Leah was born in New Orleans, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie H. Williams, owned and operated a photographic studio. The family soon moved to Seaside, which Leah and her husband call home. The Williams own and operate the Camera Masters Studio in Seaside, with Mrs. Williams doing mostly portraiture and Mr. Williams photographing weddings and doing the processing and finishing. Even Leah's two brothers, Monterey and California are freelance photographers. So, she has grown up in and around the profession.

Leah attended Seaside High School, received her AA degree from the Monterey Peninsula Junior College, and attended Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. She enrolled at Brooks Institute in November, 1970, and is graduating with a major in Motion Picture Production.

During her attendance, Leah has worked part time for Information Magnetics and at Jostens. Her husband attends City College and is employed for Information Magnetics.

After graduation, Leah plans to help in the family business, although there is a possibility of her becoming associated with the Philco Corporation in northern California.

Mary Ellen / Social Editor

The Peninsula Strivers Club, a non-profit organization, was host to over 500 guests at their formal dinner and dance, which was held on Saturday evening at the Main Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Fort Ord on March 31.

The capacity crowd enjoyed a prime rib dinner and the music which was provided by the "Welfares."

Another highlight of the evening was the pre-Easter drawing of tickets purchased for the raffle. Winning third prize was Mrs. Helen Bates of Salinas, who took a portable color television home. Second prize winner of $500 was Mrs. Jackie Washington, also of Salinas. Mr. Leroy L. Worthy of San Jose was awarded $1000 for the first prize winner.

The Strivers were honored to have as their guest, the Right Worshipful Grand Master and Mrs. Jesse Thompson of Oakland.

The members of the Strivers wish to thank all who participated in making their affair a grand success. Special credits go to Mr. George Thurman and crew of the NCO Club, and CSM (ret) Charles L. Smith, who worked so hard to perfect the layout of the ballroom.

CSM (ret) and Mrs. Wilbert Hopkins of Seaside, reserved two suites at the Holiday Inn on the Monterey Beach to entertain their out-of-town guests who attended the ball, along with local mutual friends. Out of towners were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackburn, Mrs. Eugenia Bruce, Mr. Albert Gaines, Mrs. Eva Payton and LTC (ret) and Mrs. Victor Moore, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Epperson of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woods of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of San Jose.

Mr. Theron Polite, also had wall-to-wall guests in his home who were invited for an after party, which was very delightful. There was plenty of food and drink to accommodate his guests.

FAREWELL PARTY

SFC-7 Edward E. Harris was honored during a sit-down dinner, on Saturday, April 7, at the NCO Club, Naval Air Facility, in Monterey.

Personnel in the Finance Division, Fort Ord, hosted this affair. Approximately 100 guests attended and enjoyed a delightful evening and the company of their honored guest, who has worked in the Finance Division for the past three years.

Sic Harris is on orders to Frankfurt, Germany. He will leave this month. With his wife, Juanita, and their children, Dianne, presently a student at Hill's Business College in San Jose, Michael, Jacqueline and Kenneth, they reside in Marina.

City Council Names Ministers To Fill Commission Vacancies

The Seaside City Council has filled vacancies on two city commissions by appointing ministers to the positions.

Reverend Welton McGee of Emanuel Church of God in Christ was appointed to the human relations commission, while Reverend C. Lewis McFadden of Friendship Baptist Church was named to the parks and recreation department.

At the same time, the council accepted the resignations of Reverend Chester Talton on St. Matthias Episcopal Church from the human relations commission and Mary C. Owens from the parks and recreation commission.

The council also adopted environmental impact guidelines as required by the state Environmental Quality Act.

In other action, the council approved an application for a federal grant of $25,000 for drilling a third water well in the Del Monte Heights redevelopment area.

It also approved resolutions providing for operation of the Laguna Grande and Hannon Redevelopment areas during the 1973-74 fiscal year; appropriated $4,334 for materials to be used by Fort Ord engineers to rehabilitate Camp Cahoon in Carmel Valley for use as a camp for children, subject to obtaining a use permit from the county; and approved a resolution stating "there is a need for the Laguna Grande assistance in providing drainage structures" in the 17-square mile Canyon Del Rey drainage basin in the county, Del Rey Oaks and Monterey, which drains into the Laguna Grande redevelopment project.
